

Profit from professional knowledge

Improve safety and reduce operating costs – with Putzmeister training

Investment in Putzmeister training will pay for itself in many respects, for the benefit of operators: competent, safe handling of the pump and rapid trouble shooting minimise risk factors and maximise machine availability. If you allow your machine operators and maintenance personnel to participate in ongoing training, this will be reflected positively in your balance sheet.

The training topics that we offer range from operation and service to maintenance of your concrete pump. Whether on our plant in Aichtal or on your premises, we share appropriate background knowledge, so that the quality, pace and safety of your work can be optimised. In addition to theory, which is taught using qualified trainers and high-quality teaching material, practice also plays a key role in our seminars. Our training rooms therefore contain the appropriate assemblies, complete concrete pumps and sectional models for the benefit of participants.

Cost-effectiveness: based on practical experience, for practical application

- Maximum operational reliability thanks to ongoing training
- Reduction in operating costs thanks to more efficient working
- Careful handling of the machine thanks to qualified personnel
- Higher productivity thanks to better understanding of the working processes
- Sustainable learning success thanks to practical learning and detailed documents
- Knowledge that can be put to use immediately, thanks to tailor-made training programmes

Practice is of the highest importance

Seminars in our modern training rooms

Fully functional assemblies and an original Putzmeister concrete pump are available, covering a space of over 300 m². In this way, participants gain knowledge that can be used immediately. In addition, practical training is performed live in the workshop, e.g. adjustments and trouble shooting.

Tailored seminars – on your premises

In such cases, the daily programme is tailored precisely to your needs. Even those employees, who otherwise would not be able to take part in a manufacturer's seminar, can benefit. And the seminar costs can be divided by the number of participants.

Qualified trainers – first-hand knowledge

Based on practical experience, for practical application – this also applies to all trainers. Our professionals are continuously trained internally and externally.

Practical learning materials for supporting and deepening knowledge

System animation and 3D presentations mean graphically displayed, comprehensive teaching material. At the end of training, all participants receive detailed seminar documentation and our Academy CD. In addition, video and quiz material supports the learning outcome for the purpose of testing knowledge.
